The University Writing Center, Roger Salters Institute, and Research Center are co-hosting an open session for any student who would like to get some work done on a dissertation, thesis, or capstone paper in a supportive environment. The day will involve a series of short writing sessions and check-ins that help people make meaningful progress. Writing Center and Research Center consultants will be available for short consultations, and refreshments will be provided. RSVP to wrc@du.edu